DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 28-48 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-8 and 15-27 of U.S. Patent No. 6,285,671. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the mere differences between the patent and the present application are that the terms "internet service provider", "internet facsimile data", "ATM LAN", and "ATM switch" in the patent have been replaced with the terms "packet data network gateway", "packetized facsimile data", "packet data LAN", and "packet data switch", respectively. By the usage of the present terms, the scope of the claims has been broadened. However, it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to adopt any kind of packet network when teaching is there for Internet, because Internet usually includes more than one packet network, and the terms are often used interchangeably, and also because Internet service provider is one type of packet data network gateways. Same reasoning applies to the terms "ATM LAN" and "ATM switch": ATM is a specific type of packet network, and it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to apply the recited invention to include any type of packet network and packet switch.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Sassin et al. Patent, the Burkitt patent, and the Rieley et al. patent are cited for further references.
